

Fabric Readiness Assessment

Prepare your data and analytics estate for the next generation of AI-powered insights

Business challenge

Microsoft Fabric is a unified data and AI platform that enables you to harness the power of data and AI across your entire organisation. With Fabric you can easily ingest, prepare, govern, and secure your data, and apply AI models and services to generate insights and actions. However, migrating to Fabric and adopting its features and capabilities can be a complex and challenging process.

How we help

Insight's Fabric Readiness Assessment has been developed to help organisations quick start their adoption of Microsoft Fabric, aligned to best practices, to prove business value through rapid deployment of an end-to-end use case built on Microsoft Fabric.

Our 3-step Fabric Readiness Assessment approach:

- Current state assessment: Review your existing analytics and Power BI environment, including your maturity, strengths, weaknesses, challenges, and objectives. Evaluate your Power BI security posture and data governance processes.
- Opportunities identification: Demonstrate the key features and benefits of Fabric that are most relevant to your business. Provide you with the latest Fabric and Power BI security options, licensing and capacity management options, and best-practice target state architectures and solution patterns.
- Detailed transition plan: Deliver recommendations and a detailed plan for evolving your data and analytics estate to Fabric. This includes detailed instructions for enabling the latest Fabric and Power BI features, Fabric licensing recommendations and cost estimations, and a pathway to securing your data estate.

Duration:

3 - 4 Weeks

Benefits:

- Gain a clear understanding of your current data estate and opportunities for improvement
- Tailored and actionable plan for migrating to Fabric
- Realise value faster and with less risk
- Creation of a proof of value Microsoft Fabric POC
